Available 29 Apr at 8:00 - 2 May at 8:10 3 days

Please read the instructions below. Failure to comply may result in deductions.

Files:

- The files that you'll need for this challenge are linked below.
- For the mini-challenge specs, download the Mini Challenge 2 PDF file: (click here)
- For the provided HTML and CSS files, download the zipped folder: (click here) ↓
  (https://dlsu.instructure.com/courses/89961/files/9239931/download?download_frd=1)
- For the video reference, refer to the following link: (click here)
- The rubric for grading partially involves following the specs, so please read it, even if you know what to do from the reference video alone

Challenge Details:

- This mini challenge is to assess your knowledge in JavaScript programming. As such, the HTML and CSS files are already provided.
- Do not change anything in the HTML and CSS files, it is expected that you can complete the website through the JavaScript file alone.
- Comments are written inside the HTML file to provide additional notes regarding the implementation. These are also pointed out in the specifications document.
- The HTML file is also populated with three sample expense items. You may refer to these as reference when constructing the expense item on submit.

Submission Details:

- Attach a ZIP or RAR file containing your submission
- Follow this naming format for your file submission: `MC2_LastnameFirstname`
  - e.g., `MC2_RomblonNeil.zip`
- The assignment will automatically close on May 2, 08:00 AM.
- You can resubmit your files as much as you want but late submissions will NOT be accepted
- You are allowed to use online resources but DO NOT copy the work of others or ask for the answers (especially from other students). You're already allowed to search online, so I hope all of you can respect this rule :)
- For questions, corrections, or clarifications, please send a message via AnimoSpace. I'll respond to it as soon as I can.

Good luck!
